

JERE MILLER

“APPLYING SIMPLE GOSPEL PRINCIPLES IN COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT”

(Friday Session 1)

Jere Miller was born and raised in Richfield, Utah. She graduated from Southern Utah University, after completing part of her university studies in Mexico City. She met her husband Bruce, while working for Orrin Hatch in Washington DC. Following her mission to the California Los Angeles Mission (Cantonese speaking) she married Bruce and they have been happily married for 25 years.

As a trailing spouse, Jere has lived in Boston, Houston, New York, Dayton, Singapore and Tokyo. While as an expatriate in Tokyo for 16 years, Jere served in many community organizational capacities: The American School in Japan Board of Directors, ASIJ Headmaster Search Committee ASIJ Development Chair and ASIJ PTA President. She also served as a Board Advisor for International Secondary School in Tokyo and was Chair of Tokyo Learning Support Network. Jere has been a presenter at EARCOS International School Conferences in Borneo and Manilla. She has also spent the last nine years as a reading specialist working with students with dyslexia. Church callings include Stake Primary President, Stake Young Women's President, Seminary Teacher and Tokyo Temple ordinance worker.

She loves running, reading a good book, and a daily dose of chocolate cake. She and her husband Bruce currently reside in Orange County California. They have two college age sons, Brandt and Brady; one college daughter, McKenzie; and a daughter in high school, Spenser.
